When Youth is all Spent!

Everything's the matter wie me
Am no just as young as I once used to be
Ave Arthritus in ma knees
I walk wie a limp and talk wie a wheeze
Ma pulse is weak, ma blood is thin
Am in an awfy state fur the shape that am in

The moral is this, as my tale I unfold
That you, me an him are now growing old
Is it no better tae say that 'am fine wie a grin'
Than let onybody know whit a state ye are in

And how do you know that your youth is all spent
Well, yer get up and go, got up and went
But ye really don't mind when ye think wie a grin
Of all the fine places yer 'get up' has been

Now old age is golden it's often been said
But sometimes ye wonder as ye crawl intae bed,
Wie yer ear piece in a drawer, yer teeth in a cup
Yer gless eye oan the table tae watch ye wake up.

And as sleep comes upon ye, ye think to yerself
There's no much mair ye can leave oan the shelf
Ye get up in the morning, dust down yer wits
Pick up the papers, read the obits
If yer name is still missing, ye know yer no dead
So you'll hae a big plate o' purrage an crawl back intae bed

Easter 2024

Easter is right around the corner (Easter weekend falls on March 29-31, 2024), and as you plan for the Easter egg hunts and bake your famous Easter treats, spend time reflecting on the significance of the season. "Unless there is Good Friday in your life, there can be no Easter Sunday."

Easter Fact! The first Easter eggs were died red.

According to many sources, the Christian custom of Easter eggs was adopted from Persian Nowruz tradition into the early Christians of Mesopotamia, who stained them with red colouring "in memory of the blood of Christ, shed at His crucifixion". (Wikipedia)
